How did the Fund perform during the reporting period?

Overall, 2023 was a blockbuster year for the loan market, which performed exceptionally well despite various macroeconomic challenges, including pervasive expectations of a recession that ultimately never materialized. The positive momentum carried over into 2024 as loans continued to benefit from higher base rates and a resilient economic growth and labor market environment, which drove the Fund's strong positive returns.

During the fiscal year ended June 30, 2024, the Fund maintained its higher quality and diversification bias, positioning our portfolio toward what we perceive as stable revenue, EBITDA, and cash flow corporate profiles. The Fund also maintained a structural underweight to lower-quality names and significantly reduced downgrade vulnerable risks, particularly in the B- segment of the market.
