Class I	$129	1.29%

How did the Fund perform during the reporting period?

The Fund invests in large-capitalization U.S. companies that are experiencing corporate insider buying. We believe that corporate insiders understand their own firm better than any outside investor possibly could. The advisor uses public information that is filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) on corporate insider and large shareholder buying and selling activity for its investment decisions. Numerous academic studies and our own research of insider trading data over long periods of time have resulted in the development of a proprietary method of analyzing activity that we believe can provide longterm capital appreciation.

Over the past year, we have witnessed diverse insider buying across sectors. With a wide range of insider buying opportunities to choose from, we focused on the insider buying at companies that in our opinion have the highest quality earnings growth potential and revenue growth potential. During the fiscal year ended June 30 2024, the Fund (39.39%), without load outperformed the S&P500 Total Return Index (24.56%) benchmark. The outperformance relative to the benchmark was driven by strong performance from secular, high growth companies amid a resilient market. The Fund's performance includes relative outperformance from holdings in the healthcare and financials sectors and relative underperformance in the consumer discretionary sector.
