How did the Fund perform during the reporting period?

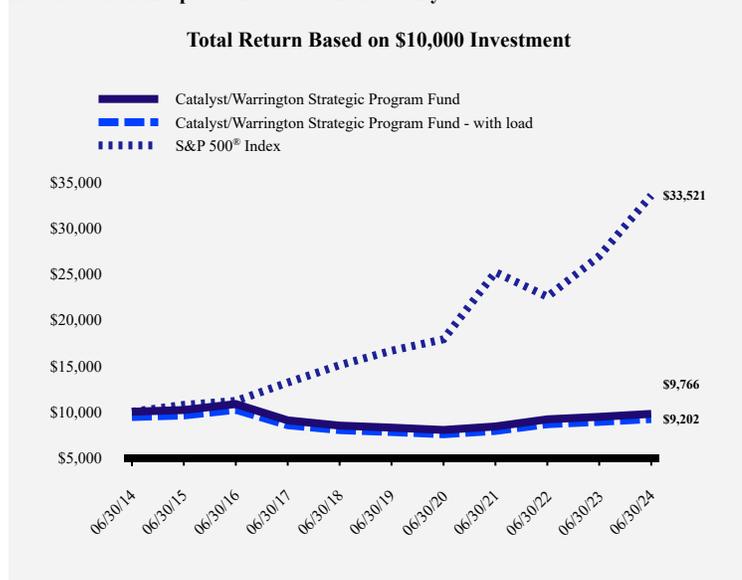

Warrington boasts a rich history in managing options that dates back to January 1997, and it brings this wealth of experience to the Fund. The Strategic Program, rooted in Warrington's inception, has won the Pinnacle Award for the Best Options Strategy in the five-year category twice, in 2017 and 2019. This esteemed accolade underscores Warrington's ability to generate profits across diverse environments while simultaneously managing market risks.

Despite witnessing a multitude of robust rallies and declines during the previous fiscal year, Warrington achieved a gain of approximately +3.42% (Class A - without load) through the end of June 2024. The Fund successfully navigated a multitude of economic and geopolitical challenges throughout the year.

At the end of 2023, the market was pricing in multiple interest rate cuts—potentially as many as six 0.25% cuts in 2024. This optimism seemed to buoy markets in the final quarter of 2023 after several months of general weakness. However, the Federal Reserve communicated their reluctance to cut rates, and through the first half of 2024, no rate cuts occurred. While inflation had decreased, policymakers were concerned about the risk of inflation reappearing if they cut rates too aggressively.

Despite less-than-ideal volatility trends, the Fund was able to deliver a good net return. The VIX plummeted to multi-year lows, back to its pre-2020 trading range. Nevertheless, we persistently observe a robust demand for very deep out-of-the-money put options, enabling us to engage in attractive spread trades. In the context of this unprecedented market environment, we consider the Fund's performance over the reporting period to be commendable.
